RESEARCH NOTES AND METHODOLOGY

The Luxury Institute conducted research among wealthy consumers in the United States with a minimum household income of $200,000 per year and a minimum net worth of $5 million.

These results are intended to provide important insights that can guide decision-making and best practices implementation.

A nationwide in-depth survey of 506 ultra-wealthy U.S. consumers was conducted in Quarter 2 2014.

Respondents were recruited and screened to include only those age 21 or older with a minimum gross annual income of $200,000 and a minimum net worth of $5 million.

According to the latest (2010) Federal Reserve Board Survey of Consumer Finances (SCF), this criteria represents the top 1.2% of U.S. households (1.5 million households).

The survey data have been weighted with respect to the demographic variables shown in this table to better reflect the profile of consumers in ultra-wealthy households according to the 2010 Survey of Consumer Finances.

KEY FINDINGS

MOST RECENT PROPERTY PURCHASE:

- A majority (63%) of these consumers report paying for their most recent property in all cash transactions.
- Pentamillionaires 35 and under reported the highest average purchase price of all age groups – $7.8M – and are the largest percentage of all age groups paying cash – 80%.
- In a dramatic age gap, wealthy buyers 45-64 paid an average of $2.7M for their most recent home purchase while buyers 65 and older spent just $1M.
- Significantly more women – 70% – reported paying cash than men – 57%.

NEAR-TERM PLANS TO PURCHASE:

- 38% of pentamillionaires surveyed say they are considering the purchase of residential real estate for personal use in the next 12 months, up from 34% observed in the 2013 survey.
- Driving the increase in this year's survey are female pentamillionaires. In 2013, 31% reported they were considering a home purchase. In 2014, the number grew to 46%.
- Far more wealthy consumers (21% vs. 7% in 2013) are considering a purchase in order to own a green or eco-friendly home.
- On average, respondents expect a purchase to increase in value by 15% in the next 5 years. Those with a net worth exceeding $10 million had the highest expectation for residential property appreciation – 18%.

NEXT RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY SEARCH:

Lifestyle vs. location:

- 75% of wealthy consumers under 35 have the freedom to choose a property based on their lifestyle.
- 86% of older consumers (over 65) still report that location is the most important.

Social media generation gap:

When it comes to the choices they make in their next property search, there is a significant generation gap in social influence between younger and older pentamillionaires. Over 50% of consumers under 35 reported that social media and online reviews influence their choices while less than 10% of consumers over 65 reported the same.

Strong desire for a turn-key property:

- Instant gratification is important to 58% of wealthy consumers with a “turn-key” property that is fully built, equipped and move-in ready is more important today than it was in the past.
- The number is even larger among younger consumers, with 72% reporting that a turn-key property is important.

Trends in desired home amenities:

- Safe rooms grew in importance with ultra-wealthy consumers over last year's survey, particularly those under 35 - 37% – and those whose net worth exceeds $10M – 30%.
- More women than men reported that multi-car garages are more important than in the past.

MOST RECENT RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY PURCHASE

NUMBER OF PROPERTIES OWNED

On average, U.S. pentamillionaires own 2.04 homes that are used for personal residences or vacation homes.

NUMBER OF HOMES CURRENTLY OWNED

Q: How many homes do you currently own and use as personal residences or vacation homes?
Base: All respondents (n=506)

Predictably, the likelihood of owning multiple homes increases with rising income and net worth, but multiple home ownership is also more likely to be reported by men and those under age 45.

MOST IMPORTANT ELEMENT IN DECISION MAKING

Of the five elements of residential property purchase decisions, location is by far the most important.

Q: What was the MOST important element in your decision making process for your recent residential purchase?
Base: Own at least one residential property (n=481)

While location remains the most important element in the decision making process, wealthier and higher income consumers are somewhat less focused on location and place higher than average importance on the view and the condition of the property.

PLANS TO BUY REAL ESTATE IN NEXT 12 MONTHS

FUTURE PURCHASE CONSIDERATION

- Over one-third (38%) of pentamillionaires surveyed say they are considering the purchase of residential real estate for personal use in the next 12 months.
- Another 10% are considering a purchase for investment purposes.

CONSIDERING PURCHASE IN NEXT 12 MONTHS

Q: Are you considering purchasing additional residential real estate in the next 12 months?
Base: All respondents (n=506)

- Younger and wealthier consumers are more likely to be considering the near-term purchase of additional residential real estate in the next 12 months – especially for personal use.

Q: Are you considering purchasing additional residential real estate in the next 12 months?
Base: All respondents (n=506) ▲ ▼ indicates statistically significant differences at the 90% confidence level.

REASONS FOR CONSIDERING PURCHASE

- The desire for a specific location or another residence and favorable economics (good investment, low prices, low interest rates) are the leading reasons wealthy consumers are considering the purchase of residential real estate in the next 12 months.

WHY ARE YOU CONSIDERING A RESIDENTIAL REAL ESTATE PURCHASE?

Q: Which reasons describe why you are considering a residential real estate purchase in the next 12 months?
Base: Considering residential property purchase in next 12 months (n=233)

- The wealthiest consumers are more likely to be considering additional purchases to acquire another residence, to build or buy a "green" home, because there is lots of inventory available and as a safer investment alternative than the stock market.

INFLUENCE OF SOCIAL MEDIA & CUSTOMER REVIEWS

Just over one-quarter of ultra-wealthy consumers surveyed say that social media and/or online customer reviews would have a strong (top 2 box) influence on their choice of real estate agents.

Q: On a scale of 1-10, how much influence would ...
 ...the information you find on social media (Facebook, Twitter, etc.) have on your choice of a real estate agent during your next real estate search?
 ...the information you find on social media (Facebook, Twitter, etc.) have on your choice of residential property during your next real estate search?
 ...online customer reviews (Yelp, Angie's List, etc.) have on your choice of a real estate agent for your next real estate search?
 Base: All respondents (n=506)

For consumers under age 45, the majority indicate that social media would have a strong influence on their choice of real estate agents or residential properties. Very few older consumers say that social media or online customer reviews would influence their choices.

LOCATION VS. LIFESTYLE

A slight majority of pentamillionaires surveyed say that they will select from properties that fit their lifestyle within a specified geographic area rather than searching without limits based on location.

IN NEXT SEARCH FOR A PRIMARY RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY...

Q: Please indicate which scenario would best describe your next search for a primary residential property.
Base: All respondents (n=506)

Older consumers are most likely to pick a location first, while most wealthy consumers under age 45 say they would not limit their search based on location.

Q: Please indicate which scenario would best describe your next search for a primary residential property.
Base: All respondents (n=506) ▲ ▼ indicates statistically significant differences at the 90% confidence level.

IMPORTANCE OF “TURN-KEY” PROPERTIES

A 58% majority of pentamillionaires report that purchasing a home that is “turn-key” (fully built, equipped, ready to move into and easy to live in and maintain) is more important to them today than it was three years ago.

HOW MUCH IMPORTANCE WOULD YOU PLACE ON SELECTING A HOME THAT IS FULLY BUILT, EQUIPPED, READY TO MOVE INTO?

Q: During your next search for a primary residential property, how much importance would you place on selecting a home that is fully built, equipped, ready to move into, and subsequently easy to live in and maintain?
Base: All respondents (n=506)

Age is the only major factor with a significant influence on recent changes in the importance of selecting a home that is fully built, equipped and ready to move into.
